Chicago & North Western® Road Number 134006

This 65' mill gondola with Bettendorf trucks was converted with bulkhead ends to be used in scrap auto service. Founded in 1859, the Chicago & North Western quickly grew into a large Class 1 railroad headquartered in Chicago, Illinois. C&NW is now part of Union Pacific, exclusively a freight railroad with over 32,000 miles of track.

Norfolk & Western Road Number 311326

This 50' gondola with Bettendorf trucks was built in 1965 and converted to be used in scrap auto service. Founded in 1982 through the mergers of Norfolk & Western and the Southern Railway, Norfolk Southern grew further in the late 1990s with the acquisition of just over half of the trackage and assets of Conrail Corporation. Today, NS is one of the largest Class 1 Railroads with over 30,000 employees and operates nearly 22,000 miles of track in the Eastern and Midwestern United States.

Chesapeake & Ohio® Road Number 950516

Built in 1941, this 50' gondola with Bettendorf trucks was converted to a MOW wheel car in 1969 in a group of nearly 50 cars. The C&O was formed in 1869 in Virginia, and became a large Class I railroad on the East Coast, headquartered in Cleveland, Ohio. In 1972, it became part of the Chessie System, after merging with the B&O and Western Maryland. After several more mergers, the heritage of C&O lives on today as a part of CSX Transportation.

Union Pacific® Caboose's

Built by International Car Co. for Rock Island Railroad in 1967, these bay-window cabooses were later obtained by Union Pacific in the late 1970s and painted into UP's yellow scheme. Classed CA-13 by UP, they had their roofwalks removed and featured billboard slogans written by company employees. They continued in service through the 1980s.

Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe with Car Frame Load 3-Pack

As America grew, the need for automobiles expanded and car frames were some of the earliest auto parts shipped by rail. Many auto makers had specialized component factories spread out over a region, and the parts that were produced were shipped by rail to central assembly plants. The car frame loads were stacked on flat cars and chained in place, or stacked vertically in racks in a gondola as our model depicts.

Medford, Talent & Lakecreek RR 30's-50's Dinner 4-Pack

The Medford, Talent & Lakecreek Railroad, while primarily a freight railroad, did operate a number of dinner excursion trains to various landmarks and destinations, including Crater Lake, the Oregon coast, and the northern California Lava Beds. The Medford, Talent & Lakecreek Railroad was established in 1918 to serve the communities throughout Oregon's Rogue Valley, helping move commodities to the Southern Pacific® interchanges. The success of the modest shortline revolved around serving various agricultural, timber, and manufacturing industries.
