

Product Numbering Conversion

This October 1st 2004 we will be converting our product numbers over to an eight-digit numbering system. The primary reasons for the conversion is to standardize the numbering of our product, for flexibility, and to create product grouping for easier identification.

Since most eight digit numbers will seem foreign to you, we will continue to include the old number in the description for easy identification. Our N, Z, and Nn3 scale monthly releases will NOT change over to the 8-digit numbers until January 1st 2005.

The purpose of this page is to help prepare you for this conversion by familiarizing you with the main changes and new series numbers. We are confident that in a short time you will begin to recognize and appreciate these new numbers.

The eight-digit number will be separated into three fields for easy readability. The first three digits of all of the numbers will be referred to as the 'Series'. The remaining numbers further identify the product.
